Animals in the air

Can you believe that the history of the hot-air balloon all began with a sheep, a duck and a chicken?

One day in 1777, Joseph Montgolfier was relaxing in front of the fire with his laundry drying nearby. After a while, he noticed that one of his shirts started to float upwards. The young man was curious about what was happening, so he threw some small pieces of paper into the fireplace to see if the same thing happened to them. When he saw them coming out of the chimney, he came to the conclusion that smoke had the power to lift things up and carry them through the air. Joseph loved science and wanted to become an inventor, so he started trying to think of a craft that would be able to capture smoke and heat and lift people off the ground. Along with his brother Jacques, he began performing experiments on something that later became the first hot-air balloon.

The Montgolfier brothers quickly realised that it was heat and not smoke that had the power to lift things. On 19th September 1783, they presented their first hot-air balloon, which was made from paper and cloth. They burned some straw underneath it and the heat helped the balloon float. As this was its first trip, the Montgolfier brothers were nervous to go up in the balloon themselves. So, instead they put a sheep, a duck and a chicken in the basket that hung below the balloon for the two-mile journey.

The new invention was a great success and the animals landed safe and sound. A huge crowd, including some members of the French Royal Family, gathered to watch the balloon floating high in the sky. Shortly afterwards, the brothers asked the king for permission to send men up in the balloon. The king agreed, and the first flight consisting of human passengers took place in Paris on 21st November 1783, with great success. The balloon reached heights of around 150 metres as it floated over the Paris rooftops, starting a long tradition of hot-air ballooning.

Never Give Up!

Bethany Hamilton and Tom Conaway both found themselves facing extremely difficult challenges – but they refused to give up ...

A Eighteen-year-old Bethany Hamilton paddles furiously into the gigantic wave. As she feels the back of the board lift, she leans forward, then quickly pushes herself up, plants her feet on her board and carefully rides the wave as it moves quickly towards the beach. All this is nothing unusual for a champion surfer, but for Bethany it is a total miracle! In 2003, Bethany had already won several competitions and had plans to become a professional surfer. Then, one sunny October morning, she was surfing with her friends on a beach near Kauai, Hawaii. Suddenly, a four-metre-long tiger shark attacked her, ripping off her arm. Most people would have become very depressed after such a tragedy, but Bethany amazed everyone. They couldn't believe their eyes when they saw her getting back on her surfboard only three weeks after her terrifying experience. This was not easy, though. Apart from the difficulties of learning to surf with just one arm, she also had to face her fear of getting attacked by a shark again. 'It's always in my mind,' she says, 'and it always will be, but I've got to keep my mind on having fun, and just surfing.' Bethany is not only a champion surfer, but her positive attitude is also an inspiration to many. She has even been to Thailand to help children who experienced the 2004 tsunami disaster with their fear of water. Sometimes, Bethany asks herself 'Why me?' but then she thinks of how her experience has helped her be a better person. Bethany's motto is 'Me quit? Never!'

Never give up.

1) Every person has difficulties sometimes. Always troubles and joys will be us from nature and wills. We must not self-realization. Our dreams and don't believe in ourselves. And quickly all up when they meet obstacles.

But there are people who never surrender and stay positive in any situation. They help others to overcome difficulties and kindness will develop the character and make them a fantastic role model.

2) The story of Bethany's life is the great example of a strong character that motivates us to stay brave, face our fears, and keep moving on even in difficult situations. Moments of our lives.

They start for Dover and Calais in ten minutes." A puzzled grin spread across the valet's round face. Clearly he had not understood. "Monsieur is going to leave home?" enquired Passepartout.

"Yes," returned Phileas Fogg. "We are off around the world!"

The valet's eyes opened wider as he raised his eyebrows and held up his hands in astonishment. "Around the world?"

Text.

Mr. Fogg shocked Passepartout with the fact that today they need to go on a journey of 80 days. Passepartout collect their suitcase, get a suitcase with money inside, and they sit in a taxi. At the station, they meet a woman who asks for money. Mr. Fogg gives her twenty guineas. This pleasantly surprised Passepartout. At the night time, gentlemen come to the station. There Mr Fogg said goodbye to his comrades. He offers to show them his passport when he arrives, but in the end they only agree that he will return to London after 80 days.

THE DARLING

She now had her own opinions, and at supper discussed with Sasha's parents, saying how difficult the studies had become for the children at the school. But after all, she felt a classical education was better than a commercial course, because when 5 you graduated from school then the road was open to you for any career at all. If you chose to, you could become a doctor, or if you wanted to, you could become an engineer.

Sasha started at the school [1]. As his father was away every day inspecting cattle and was sometimes gone for up to 10 three whole days at a time, it seemed to Olenka that Sasha was completely abandoned, was treated as if he were quite superfluous, and must be dying of hunger. So she transferred him into her part of the house and fixed up a little room for him there.

15 Every morning Olenka would come into his room and find him sound asleep with his hand tucked under his cheek, so quiet that he seemed not to be breathing [2].
"Sashenka," she said sorrowfully, "get up, darling. It's time to go to school."

20 He got up, dressed, said his prayers, then sat down to breakfast [3]. The sleep was not yet out of him, so he was a little cross.

"You don't know your fables¹ as you should, Sashenka," said Olenka, looking at him as though he were departing on a long

25 journey. "What a lot of trouble you are. You must try hard and learn, dear, and mind your teachers."

"Oh, leave me alone, please," said Sasha.

she dreamed of the far-away, misty future when Sasha would finish his studies and become a doctor or an engineer, have a large house of his own, with horses and a carriage, marry and have children [7]. And the black cat would lie at her side purring "Mr, mr, mr."
